DEGREES GIVEN 57 CANDIDATES AT CONVOCATION

Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart Defends
Characters of Lincoln and Washington

A defense of the "two greatest figures in the history of the United States," George Washington and Abraham Lincoln, was the theme of the address delivered by Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, historian for the George Washington Bicentennial Commission at the Winter Convocation of The George Washington University held Monday, February 23, at Constitution Hall. Dr. Hart vigorously assailed the so-called "debunkers" who would malign the characters of great Americans to enrich their own private purses.

Following selections by John Russell Mason, organist, assistant librarian of the University, the academic procession entered the hall, led by Elmer Louis Kayser, University marshal. The president of the University, the provost of the University, members of the board of trustees, the deans, faculties and members of the graduating classes, made up the procession.

Dr. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the House of Representatives, and pastor of the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal Church, offered the invocation and pronounced the benediction.

Dr. William Allen Wilbur, Provost of the University, introduced the deans of the various schools, and they presented their candidates for degrees.

Charge to Graduates

President Marvin, in his charge to the students, said:

"War demands democracy. The era and culture of free men is supplanted by subservience to clan prejudices and cross disciplines of external forces. Even as it takes a democratic society longer to align itself for war, so it takes it a greater period of time to reestablish natural citizenship following such organized conflicts. Because of significant social slackness in this day of post-war transition, we hear from many the unobtrusive expression, 'Would that there were a wise and great leader to save us from ourselves.' I take this occasion, graduates, as we answer this expression, to re-read for you a bit from Socrates:

"I, therefore, consider how I may exhibit my soul before my judge in a healthy condition. Wherefore, disregarding the honors that most men value, and looking to the truth, I shall endeavor in reality to live as virtuously as I can; and when I die, to die so.

"And I invite all other men to the utmost of my power to this contest, which I affirm, surpasses all contests here."

Herein is the answer to our social problems: That each one of you disregard ephemeral honors and value virtuous action. Wise leadership is not in contending vocally for any cause, but in willingness quietly to

Commerce Club Adopts New Name at Meeting

Will Petition National Economics
Fraternity for Charter

At a meeting of the Commerce Club, held last Thursday in Corcoran Hall, the name of the organization was changed to The George Washington Commerce and Economics Fraternity, in order to avoid conflict in name with a club formed more than a year ago in the class in marketing conducted by Mr. Francis E. Simmons.

The fourteen men present discussed with Professor Richard N. Owens the commerce and economics courses now being given at George Washington. Prof. Owens stated that there is no faster growing economics department in any school. The organization is considering petitioning for a charter of a national economics fraternity.

A move was made to inform the school of the club's activity in promoting good fellowship and discussion of the commercial problems by the forming of a committee for that purpose. The committee, appointed by temporary chairman Douglas Taylor, consists of George Jarvis, Lester Gates, and Wilburn West. The committee interviewed Dean John Donaldson last Friday to find him much in favor of the club's activity because of the distinct need it can fulfill in the University.

The next meeting will be held Monday, March 2, and plans will be made for the election of permanent officers. A smoker is to be given later in the year.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR ANNUAL PROM

Professional Fraternities and Wandering Greeks to be Invited

As March 6 draws near, thoughts of frat men—and women—turn to that event which is always the highlight of G. W.'s social season, the Interfraternity Prom. Announcement comes from Arthur Barton, chairman of the council's social committee, that plans are complete for the annual prom, which is to be held in the main ballroom of the Willard Hotel from ten until two.

The committee has selected the favors, which, it is announced, both men and women will share alike this year. Mystery has shrouded their nature, but it has also intimated that something both different and pleasing will appear. Programs are being printed and will be distributed to those obtaining tickets for the function, from any of the members of the council.

Slaughter's Orchestra

Johnny Slaughter and his famous Madrilion band will render the musical strains for the dance. It is needless to say more about Slaughter's music, because G. W.ites are familiar with his renditions, either on the Powhatan roof during the summer, or at the Madrilion restaurant during the winter season.

Provision has been made for accommodating all wandering Greeks who desire to attend the big event, and separate boxes will be reserved if they desire and if a sufficient number declare their intentions of attending. Also, any members of recognized professional fraternities will be courteously received by the prom chairman.

Razz Berry To Appear

As usual, the big "razz" sheet of the year, the Razz Berry, will appear during the intermission, with a well-directed panning of all the prominent students, the University administration, and the faculty. Many surprises are promised in this issue of the annual scandal sheet, and the editorial board is now at work on a unique set-up for the paper. This publication is gotten out by the local chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, and copies of the edition will be circulated by the pledges of the organization.

Announcement of final arrangements will be made next week in The Hatchet; meanwhile, it is urged that all those who are contemplating attending see either their own council representative, or Arthur Barton, and obtain their tickets immediately.

Openings For Students on Business Staff of Hatchet

Reorganization of the business staff of The University Hatchet will leave several positions open for students interested in this activity. These positions will be filled by the most successful people in a competition sponsored by the Circulation Department of The Hatchet.

A meeting of those interested will be held on Tuesday afternoon, March 3, at 1:30 o'clock, in The Hatchet office. People entering this competition should come to this meeting prepared to work. The length of the period of competition will depend upon the number of students reporting for the trials.

Preparing The Hatchet for the mail, is the chief work of the competition. Parker Jones, who has charge of this, will give complete details. Participants must be willing to devote every Tuesday afternoon to this work.

Initiation Is Performed By Omicron Delta Kappa

Fletcher Henderson Is Made Member of Honorary Society

Fletcher Henderson, the last of eight pledges to Omicron Delta Kappa, the widely known national honorary activities fraternity, was initiated at the last meeting of the society on February 16. The other seven pledges, who were initiated at the meeting of January 17, were Bradford Swope, Frank Weitzel, William Thomson, William Dismar, Herman Dishman, William Hanbeck and Archie Burgess.

Henderson has been a member of The Hatchet staff for three years, a member of the staff of the Cherry Tree in 1928 and 1929, assistant manager of football in 1929, and was editor of the 1930 Handbook. At present he is an associate editor of The Hatchet, a member of the Troubadour board, vice president of Pi Delta Epsilon, and a member of the Theta Delta Chi. He was co-author of the last Troubadour show, "Good Gracious, Godfrey!" and is a member of the Student Council.

At the same meeting, Kenneth Iverson was named as delegate to the national convention of Omicron Delta Kappa, to be held in Lexington, Kentucky, on March 5, 6, and 7. In case he is unable to attend, Lyman Dishman was named as alternate.

Dr. Marvin Likes to be Ordered to "Pull Over" But Not Too Frequently

President Marvin likes to have policemen wave at him, but when they follow the wave with an accusation that he is driving a stolen automobile, it is another matter.

About a month ago Prexy's car was stolen. He reported the loss to the police and within twenty-four hours it was recovered by a member of the park police in Potomac Park. Delighted with this quick restitution, President Marvin blissfully resumed his daily driving. However, he failed to reckon with the eagle eyes and inextricable memories of the numerous guardians of local safety who had been warned to be on the lookout.

The first time a policeman waved him to the curb and inquired where he got the "stolen" car, Prexy thought nothing of having to prove his identity and explain the circumstances. The second time this happened the affair began to assume a humorous aspect. Last week the apex of the situation was reached. Right in front of 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, also known as the White House, a third zealous policeman disburdened himself of the now well-known and no longer humorous wave and question.

President Marvin still likes to be waved at by friendly policemen, but he has announced to the Metropolitan police force and the community at large that he is driving his own automobile and that there is no real need to wave at him because he never exceeds the speed limit.

History Club to Hear Hart

Dr. Albert B. Hart, the noted historian, will be the speaker at the next meeting of the History Club on March 11.

"The Humanity of Brutus," by Mark Hindus, was reviewed by Miss Iva Swift, readers' advisor at the Public Library, at the meeting held on February 11.

More Organizations Pledge

Contributions to the Student Union Building fund are mounting steadily, due to the efforts of the Student Council Committee and the fifteen students assisting in securing pledges from the various clubs and fraternities on the campus. Five organizations pledged money to the fund during the last week, the total coming to $109.

Those contributing, and thereby earning a place on the Honor Roll, are: Scarab, professional engineering fraternity, with a pledge of $44; the Masonic Club and Pi Beta Phi, social sorority, $25 each; Kappa Alpha, social fraternity, $10; and Hour Glass, honorary society for upperclass women, $5.

History Dept. Announces New Pro-Seminar Course

Bemis to Give Problems of Washington's Presidency

The History Department announces that during the school year, starting next September, there will be offered a new two-semester pro-seminar course on the Problems of Washington's Presidency, taught by Professor Samuel Flagg Bemis.

The Department is offering this course in the hope that it will meet the demands for the careful study of an important phase of the life of George Washington, in connection with the universal interest created by plans for the Bicentennial Celebration.

Most people see the greatest interest in the study of George Washington in the part which he played in the American Revolution. His relations to the Revolution have been dwelt on more by students and historians than his role as President; but it was under Washington's presidency that the foundations of American foreign policy were defined.

The rich material in the Library of Congress, its collection of Washingtonian, and the new edition of Writings of George Washington now being published by the Bicentennial Commission, will put at the disposal of mature students a vast amount of material dealing with the political activities of the man who was called the "Father of His Country."

It is only fitting that The George Washington University, named after the "Father of His Country," and located in the capital of this nation, which capital is also named after him, should give a course of this nature at that time. It will be the History Department's contribution to the Bicentennial Celebration of Washington's birth.

FORENSIC SEASON FOR MEN TO BEGIN

Visit Cincinnati For First Tilt;
Women Meet Trinity
Here Today

The men's debating team will officially open its inter-collegiate debate season Thursday and Friday, February 26 and 27, in a dual debate with the University of Cincinnati, the first debate to be held in Cincinnati and the last in Washington. The negative of the question: "Resolved, That the Ontario Method of Liquor Control Should Be Substituted for the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution," will be supported by George Washington University in both instances. Ralph E. Gilby and James Ronald will compose the team.

This question is a variation from the question which is being used in all the other debates for the season. The adopted question is, "Resolved, That An Amendment to the Federal Constitution Should Be Adopted Which Shall Repeal the Eighteenth Amendment and Institute a System of Federal Manufacture and Sale of Intoxicating Liquors."

These will be the first two debates in a series of eight, which have been planned for the season. Teams which will be met later are: University of Oklahoma, New York University, Syracuse University, and the University of West Virginia, all at Washington. A return debate with New York University will take place in New York and on the same trip the team meets Boston University.

The women's negative team will have its first encounter today with Trinity College here in Washington. The negative of the question: "Resolved, That the Several States Should Adopt Legislation Providing for Compulsory Unemployment Insurance," will be represented by three of the George Washington University negative squad, which is composed of Louise Bruce, Hilda Hayes, Louise Falligan, and Elizabeth Reeves. The debate will be decided by a single critic judge.

Newcomers Entertain For Husbands at Dodge Hotel

The Newcomers' group of Columbian Women entertained at a supper party at the Dodge Hut Sunday, February 21, in honor of their husbands and of the committee which formed the group last year. Arrangements were made by Mrs. F. F. Welde, with the assistance of Mrs. Raleigh Gilchrist and Mrs. James Pixie.

The honor guests were Professor and Mrs. Robert F. Griggs, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hall, Professor and Mrs. Samuel F. Bemis, Professor and Mrs. J. Orin Powers, Professor and Mrs. Edward H. Sehr, and Professor and Mrs. James H. Defendorf.

Last spring this group was organized by Mrs. Robert F. Griggs for the new women professors on the staff and for the wives of newcomers in the faculty, with the purpose of creating a smaller group within Columbian Women in which the women might become more intimately acquainted. In order to keep the group small, members belong for only three years, after their arrival, then automatically return to the larger group of Columbian Women.

G. W. GLEE CLUB ENTERS CONTEST FRIDAY WITH C. U.

Arrangements Have Been Completed For Local Competition;
Dancing to Follow

Final arrangements have been completed for the Second Annual Middle Atlantic Glee Club Contest, to be held next Friday, February 27, at the new Shoreham Hotel. The contest, in which The George Washington University Glee Club, intercollegiate champions of 1930, will compete with the Catholic University Glee Club, will be followed by dancing in the main ballroom of the hotel to the music of the Shoreham Hotel Orchestra.

Tickets are on sale at the Bursar's office, Droop's, and the Shoreham Hotel. They are also available from the members of the Glee Club. The regular price of admission is $1.50 while the student rate is $1.00 per person.

The program for the contest will include the singing by each club of the "prize" song, which for this year is "Feasting I Watch," by the famous composer, Edward Elgar. This will be followed with the "choice" song of each club, which, for George Washington, is the "Swabian Folk Song," by Johannes Brahms, and for Catholic University, "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," an old English folk song. In concluding the contest each club will sing its university song.

While waiting for the announcement of the judges, the combined glee clubs will sing "Shenandoah," an old sea chantey arranged by Marshall Bartholomew, director of the Yale University Glee Club, and the "Prayer of Thanksgiving," a Dutch folk song.

Following the judges' decision the winning club will present three selections.

Judges for Contest

The committee of judges for the contest will include Clyde B. Aitchison, director of the Interstate Commerce Commission Glee Club, and a nationally known musician, and Kurt Hetsel, a leading Washington pianist and composer. The name of the third judge has not yet been announced. In making the decision, the judge will rate the contestants on a basis of five points, namely, diction, tone, pitch, quality and appearance. The prize, choice, and university songs will have weights of 50, 30, and 20, respectively.

The Middle Atlantic Glee Club contests are a regional development through which a representative of this section is selected for the national intercollegiate glee club contest, held annually in New York City, with the purpose of furthering musical development and appreciation in universities throughout the country. The first Middle Atlantic contest, held in February, 1930, was won by the George Washington Glee Club, which later was declared victor in the national contest at New York.

Club Works Hard

Under the leadership of Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Harmon, the George Washington Glee Club has been making strenuous preparations to retain its national championship. Since the club's organization in October, rehearsals have been held twice weekly. Frequent concerts have been given locally, including engagements over radio station WRC, and at functions of the University Club of Washington, the Alabama, Massachusetts, Tennessee and Utah state societies, the Cathedral Chapter of the Eastern Star, and Sibley Memorial Hospital.

Since intercollegiate contest rules provide that a club may be represented by only thirty men, the many candidates for admission to membership in the club have been subjected to a series of eliminations, the carrying out of which has proved a considerable task. The chief factors entering into the selection of a member were his adaptability to choral singing and his attendance at rehearsals.

Officers

The officers of the Glee Club are: Richard A. Hill, president; Henry E. Amos, manager; Samuel B. Detwiler, Jr., secretary; Robert Griest, treasurer, and Jesse L. Stimson, student conductor. The other members of the club who will take part in the contest are: Hugh Buckingham, Everett Cooper, Ralph Kimble, Aubrey Minor, Douglas Taylor and Clinton Vernon, first tenors; Daniel Beatty, Raymond Coe, Geoffrey Creyke, James Joiner, John Perry, George Roth and George Wells, second tenors; Carl Brown, Robert Cushman, George Jarvis, William May, Norman Morgan and Frank Scrivener, baritone; Paul Bloom, John Cook, Allan Crocker, Carroll Hughes, Rollin Jones, Henry Stanton and Harold Stepler, basses.

THE GLEE CLUB

When the Glee Club sings against Catholic University at the Shoreham Hotel Friday night for the Middle Atlantic championship, the school will have an opportunity to recognize one of its notably successful organizations.

All year the club has been working strenuously to defend the honors it received last year, when, after winning the contest here, it went to New York and there defeated clubs from Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth, Columbia and other widely known universities. In 14 years of competition only Yale, Harvard, Dartmouth and Connecticut Wesleyan had previously been victorious. Yet the splendid efforts of the G. W. club enabled it, a newcomer in the contest, to carry off national honors and bring this school nation-wide fame.

The concert, and the dance which follows offers an evening of entertainment which can not be matched. Patronage of students will help the club to finance its activities, as well as encourage it to put forth its best efforts.

Under a ruling of the Student Council, no other University affairs will occur on Friday night. This invalidates the old alibi, "I have another engagement," and leaves the field clear for a real audience of G. W. ites.

THE SPOKEN WORD

With the announcement last week of the decision of the Drama Club to present the comedy, "The Cassilis Engagement," by St. John Hankin, there has been an encouraging wave of student opinion. Good drama has been too long forgotten at George Washington, and it is reassuring to realize that student thought is back of the club.

Much of the favorable opinion is due solely to the wisdom in choosing the play. It has often been the trouble with college organizations that they attempt to stage a production which is artistically deserving of merit, but very poor box office. And if a college play can not carry itself through student support, its primary purpose of presenting good theatre is lost.

This particular play is of the type that is adapted to college players and college audiences. It is a comedy of English life, and is one which affords real enjoyment to the college theatre-goer. It is a true comedy that may be enjoyed, yet it is not the play lacking in finish that is often seen on the college stage.

The Hatchet is glad to see that the Drama Club has seen fit to produce a play of such merit. But we are even more gratified to realize the extent of the support of the student body which was indicated by the turnout at tryouts.

THE BREAK WITH C. U.

Despite the criticism hurled at The George Washington University Athletic Department by three local newspapers last week after the unfortunate "leak" regarding our break with Catholic University, The Hatchet believes that no sane person can consider the action taken by the G. W. Athletic Council as anything but the best.

Newspaper men, quick to find an excuse for a sensational story, failed to appreciate George Washington's position and to consider the true facts of the case. The incident was unfortunate in only one respect—that the story "broke" as it did. The Athletic Council had specifically decided to permit Catholic University to announce the "break," which a letter to that school was intended to convey. That one member of the Council betrayed his trust and gave the facts prematurely to one of the newspapers, was unfortunate.

But considering the facts governing the Council in its decision, it is evident that true wisdom was behind its action on the split. In the first place, the G. W.-C. U. game was NOT a money-maker for both schools, as uninformed "gentlemen of the press" would have the public believe. George Washington never realized a cent during the years that the game was played at the Catholic University Stadium as C. U.'s "home game"—a game to which C. U. students were admitted on presentation of their athletic ticket, while G. W. fans paid. Moreover, the profits realized at Griffith Stadium last fall were divided between the two schools. AFTER the baseball club had been paid for its loan of the park. Figures prove that the G. W.-South Dakota game, played on a stormy night, brought more revenue to G. W. than the C. U. contest. Never more than 10,000 persons attended the game, disproving entirely the alleged popularity of the game with Washington football lovers.

Secondly, the Council's sentiment that "intra-city rivalries are unhealthy," is obviously true. Never have two schools in the same city continued competition in any athletic phase without serious results in the end. Riots, with occasional serious results and sometimes death, have been all too frequent in such instances. The tense atmosphere prevalent at the C. U.-G. W. game last fall was one boding no good for the continuation of the 10-year rivalry.

Thirdly, the Council took into consideration the sentiment of the George Washington student body regarding the relationship with C. U. From not one of the three student members of the Council came the expression that the students of the University were vitally interested in the C. U. game—in contrast, a complete indifference was thought to be prevalent among the student body.

Lastly, the Council took the step in continuation of a policy intended to elevate George Washington in the collegiate athletic world. Most major universities of the country make it a policy to vary their opponents among other major institutions.

The Hatchet heartily commends the Athletic Council's action upon this subject and upon its attempt to improve the sports program at George Washington University.

The violent outburst that this column indulged in last issue concerning the unusual prominence of women in University activities should have been productive of at least one letter to the Editor or to Dick Rollo. This utter lack of undergraduate repartee is absolutely disheartening.

There wasn't even a line from a campus female wanting to know why an Editor of feminine gender suffered a weak-minded trisectile male on her staff.

Dick Rollo is inclined to believe that there were no letters because no one read what he had to say.

The best figures in the University were on display Saturday at Jelleff's. 'tis rumored. Rollo came, Rollo saw, but Rollo wasn't conquered.

A recent issue of the University of Maryland Diamondback boasts that the Maryland "Victory Song" is now incorporated in all broadcast and dance programs emanating from the orchestra at Wardman Park. Also that all requests from Maryland undergrads on the dance floor will be played as sax solos. Looks a wee bit like favoritism for the College Parkers. Or is there more to the Diamondback's simple statement that "arrangements have been completed?"

Just another step in the broadening of the School of Government—commerce students change "club" to "fraternity" and decide to petition a national organization. Little by little.

It has just been brought to our attention that the Glee Club has achieved remarkable success this week in its effort to adequately publicize the squawk and brawl out at the Shoreham Friday. Look closely and you'll discover in this Hatchet a mammoth picture, a news story, an editorial, an ear, a student notice, and a squib in the calendar, all devoted to the club. And now Chips joins the parade. We didn't want to, but the above facts deserve mention.

Members of dance class will, among other interpretations of terpsichore, present before Columbian Women a group dance based on combative movements. Ringside seats ought to be in great demand.

Seldom do we admit that a column in any other paper is better than "Chips." This week, however, we came across a remark in the McGill Daily which easily bears repetition whether it's original at McGill or not. Here goes:

A movie producer once said that a perfect scenario must have five things: "religion, humor, society, action, and sex." An enterprising writer thereupon submitted the following as a perfect scenario: "My God!" laughed the Duchess, "let go my leg!"

Pi Delt announces its annual editorial and news story contest. Wonder how a Rollo editorial on a pet subject would go? Or even a long chip? Sometimes these chipies do get rather editorial. Only they're a little too personal. Maybe some Pi Delt judge would be offended if he sensed an implication in some perfectly harmless remark of ours.

After Chairman Wickersham held his mouth closed about prohibition at the Law School banquet, we hoped this University's undergrads could take a hint and give the old bone of contention a rest. The men debaters step out with some old ideas, however, about Federal supervision and control, and another semester is well on the way to ruin.

This Interfraternity Prom is still on the way. For heaven's sake, get it over with, if for no other reason than that the Razz Berry will give a number of people something to talk about in the library.

A suggestion for Provost Wilbur is found in a recent issue of the Lehigh Brown and White. Commenting on The Hatchet's story announcing that green exam books were an innovation of the Provost who always looks after the welfare of all students and decided that employment of the green color would lessen eyestrain, the Brown and White says, "If that's the way he feels about it, why does he give exams?"

"In Dutch" with the cops again! When is our prey going to give everybody the slip and accomplish something real big in the way of crime?

All one can hear in The Hatchet office Sunday nights is "Copy, copy, who's got some copy?" For that reason we'd like to offer some consolation. A certain similarly bedeviled individual way out at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver concocted this sketch which is found in The Odyssey:

The Editor sat in his cane bottom chair, Ran all his fingers through all his hair, And wildly implored in a voice of despair For copy.

Printers and 'phone were both sizzling hot; That blankable copy has got to be got! We want it right. What we want is a lot More copy!"

But still the reporters all fervently swore That they'd got all the news in the country and more; The Editor raved as he traversed the floor, "More copy!"

The issue is out. Now we hear people tell Of a maniac held in a lone padded cell. The poor ex-Editor can only yell, "More copy!"

No more copy being available for this monumental piece of journalism, this is hereby "goodby" from DICK ROLLO.

Approximately one thousand freshmen at the University of Minnesota who have just gone through fraternity rushing paid out a total of about $2,000 under a blanket tax assessing them two dollars each to defray rushing expenses hitherto borne by the fraternities. The tax was the only expense of rushing to the freshmen and covered all meals eaten at fraternity houses. Close to 5,000 meals were served to freshmen during the rushing period, it has been estimated.

College yells and cigarettes are bringing about a definite lowering of girls' voices it is claimed at Washington State College.

The Editor's Mail Box

To The Editor:

Concerning the announcement in the morning papers of the severing of relations with Catholic University, may I express my opinion of such a move.

I have been a student in the University for the past five years and a very ardent fan of the football teams of those years. In those years the only games which the teams have played which were worth anyone's time and money were those played with Catholic University.

During the past year the only interesting game which the team played was with Catholic University; they played several teams which the high school teams of this city could very easily dispose of.

I also think that if your paper should conduct a poll it would find that the majority of the students would be in favor of retaining athletic relations with Catholic University. However, this is one school where the opinion of the student body means absolutely nothing. The existing student council is merely a figurehead. What has it accomplished since its conception? It has completely failed, that is, if its purpose was to, in any way, benefit the student or to serve as spokesman for the students to the officials of the University.

I am firmly in favor of the student council but the existing one has no power and if they have any power it is certainly time they exerted it by trying to replace the only bright spot in an otherwise uninteresting football schedule. No one desires to support an athletic team which fails to come close when playing real teams and only defeats second raters to class C teams.

Sincerely yours,
JOE MEDICO.

Gettysburg College made an interesting study of the relative rank of occupation, based on a comparison of the results of the Freshman Psychological Tests with their occupational choices. The purpose was to determine whether certain types of mentality go into certain occupations. According to the results of the survey, pre-legal students ranked high above all others, with ministerial students second, and dentistry last. Teaching, however, was revealed as the most popular field.

IMPROVED QUINT SCORES VICTORY OVER ST. JOHN'S

Keen Throws From Foul Line Enable Colonials To Win, 30-26

By BILL DISMER

We don't mean to insinuate that the members of the George Washington basketball team pay any particular heed to criticism imparted in these columns, but a fault of the team specifically mentioned by this critic last week was so corrected last Wednesday night that the Colonials whipped St. John's five, 30-26.

We refer to the matter of making good the foul chances offered the G. W. players. Matched in field goals by their visitors from Annapolis, the Colonials checked in with a victory by outscoring their opponents from the 15-foot line, 8 to 4, a complete reversal of the form exhibited in their games of former weeks and one which brought encouragement to their followers. Altogether, Burgess & Co. made good on 8 of the 14 chances offered them, giving them the margin of victory.

Twice during the early portions of the game did the Colonials tie the score by free tosses and twice did they forge into the lead through this medium. Certainly an inspiration for themselves as well as their supporters who had seen them retarded too often through inability to take advantage of a "gift."

But let us not linger too long on this phase of a game which developed into a thriller from the start. Four times during the first half was the score tied and twice during the second twenty minutes' play was the count deadlocked, so even was the battling. The early going favored the Johnnies, who took the lead three times in the first half, but after intermission they were never able to get ahead again although they twice tied the score.

Chambers' Work Pleases

Especially pleasing to Colonial fans was the work of Wayne Chambers, that consistent, but often inconspicuous G. W. center. Always a tower of strength to his team, the big tap-off man seldom comes in for his just share of applause due to his lack of "color," but last Wednesday he pulled several plays that were obviously outstanding. Again proving the match of two opposing centers, Chambers was found on the scoring end of three plays, which, combined with two fouls allowed him to assist his team to the material worth of 8 points.

The big boy looked like a big-leaguer in working the ball down the floor with another teammate, and twice during the evening it was he who sent the leather zipping through the cords as the culmination of this two-man attack. Chambers' third double-decker of the night came on a sensational one-handed stab from the side of the floor, a deed earning him a just ovation.

Slow to Start

Slow to start, the Colonials were forced to see their adversaries take a 4-0 lead before "Otis" Zahn broke the "ice" for the home crowd with a pair of foul tosses. After Capt. Bob MacCartee, a Washington boy playing sensationally with St. John's, had put another two-pointer through the cords, the boys in Buff and Blue started an attack which did not pause until they had taken an 8-6 lead. Burgess started the spurt with a foul, Zahn scored with a "snowbird," and then Burgess came through again by intercepting a pass under his own basket and dribbling the length of the floor to score and put his team in the front. Then followed some rapid-fire shooting on the part of both teams with the result that the score was tied four times in succession. With the count deadlocked at 14-14, "Soapy" Penlon gave G. W. a one-point lead with a free toss and Burgess increased it by two more on a long pot shot just before the half-time whistle blew.

Taking up where he had left off, Burgess again started his team on the right path by sinking another field goal immediately at the resumption of play, but here St. John's called a halt. MacCartee dribbled in for two points, and a foul and another field goal tied the score at 19-all. Foul shots by each team failed to change the standing and it was not until Burgess and Penlon scored "snowbirds" in rapid succession that G. W. was able to draw away again. After that, St. John's never caught up. Once they came within one point at 24-23, but Chambers then pulled two of his three goals of the night, enabling his team to "coast in" to the end.

Sharing the glory with Chambers was Forrest Burgess who has been traveling at top speed all season.

Candidates for Varsity Tennis Team Requested To Turn Out In March

Candidates for the varsity tennis team are to report during the month of March. All eligible men are requested to turn out. Elimination matches will be held and the team will be chosen from those men making the best showing. Bob Considine will criticize the play during the eliminations, and the task of building up a strong team will fall upon him.

All of the "at home" matches will be played at a local country club. The first match of the season will be played April 11 against the Maryland netmen here. Other matches scheduled are:

- April 18—Johns Hopkins, here, tentative.
- April 22—Hampton Sidney, there.
- April 23—Virginia, there.
- April 24—Richmond or Randolph-Macon, away.
- April 25—Duke, there, tentative.
- April 28—Hampton Sidney, here.
- April 30—Pittsburgh U., here.
- May 7—Duke, here.
- May 12—Washington & Jefferson, here.
- May 14—Maryland, there.
- May 18—New York University, here.

University of Virginia Wins Swimming Meet

Four Regulars Lost to Colonials By Conference Rules

Prevented from using four of their regulars by Southern Conference rules to which the University of Virginia must adhere, the Colonial swimmers were swamped by the Virginian mermen, 49-17, last Friday afternoon at the Ambassador Pool. The rule specifies that no freshman may compete in Southern Conference varsity contests, and Max Rote, G. W. star of other meets, was thus lost to the team.

Only one first place was captured by G. W., Strauss winning the 100-yard breast-stroke. Strauss also took second place in the fancy diving, and showed better form than in previous meets. In the thrilling 440-yard free-style swim, Burnside was a scant few inches behind Sawyer, of Virginia. Redmond won two third places for the Colonials, while Pagan placed third in the back stroke event.

The team is today at Williamsburg, Va., where the College of William and Mary's swimming team is being met in the William and Mary pool. The Indians annually put out a good swimming team, and should offer the Colonials the sternest opposition.

The results:

- 50-yard free style—Won by Lampton (V.); second, Penick (V.); third, Redmond (G. W.). Time, 0:26.
- 100 yard free style—Won by Chennery (V.); second, Burkley (V.); third, Redmond (G. W.). Time, 1:07.
- 440-yard free style—Won by Sawyer (V.); second, tie between Burnside (G. W.) and Tarplee (V.). Time, 6:10 2-5.
- 200-yard relay—Won by Virginia (Lampton, Penick, Chennery, Daniels); second, George Washington (Burnside, Pagan, Longfellow, Redmond).
- Fancy diving—Won by McMurty (V.); second, Strauss (G. W.); third, Robertson (V.).
- 100-yard back stroke—Won by Hatch (V.); second, Andrews (V.); third, Pagan (G. W.). Time, 1:20 4-5.
- 100-yard breast stroke—Won by Strauss (G. W.); second, tie between Hatch (V.) and Daniels (V.). Time, 1:20 3-5.

Ping Pong Finals To Be Played

The intramural ping pong tournament finals will be played in C. H. 15, tomorrow and Friday. Alpha Delta Pi has won three games, and is the winner in League A. Semi-final games in Leagues B and C will be played today and tomorrow, Kappa Delta meeting Chi Omega and Pi Beta Phi.

Alpha Delta Pi, victor in League A, meets the winner in League C, at 3 p. m. tomorrow, and the winner in League B Friday at the same time. At 2:30 Friday, the winners in Leagues B and C play.

G. W. Teams Hold Playday

The G. W. women's basketball teams will hold the first basketball play day ever held at the University Saturday, February 28, at 2 P. M. Four teams have been invited from both Wilson Normal and American University. Each of these teams, representing the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes of each school, will play the corresponding teams of G. W. in fifteen-minute games. Thus every team of the school will play two games.

The G. W. teams will be hostesses at an informal tea in the Chi Omega rooms after the games.

Harvard and Princeton are at peace once again. The athletic committees of both universities have sanctioned renewal of competition in all sports, except football, between the two institutions. A growing sentiment among the undergraduates of the two universities favored resumption of relations and it was decided to effect a compromise of some kind.

Two swimming pools, a basketball court, administration headquarters, classrooms, and equipment rooms are contained in the new $800,000 gym of the University of Southern California.

CUBS SPLIT EVEN IN WEEK'S GAMES; 3 LOSSES TO DATE

Frosh Swamp Central 48-28 in Easy Game; Lose Close One to Eastern

In winning a comparatively easy game from Central High School and losing a mighty tough one to Eastern High, the freshman basketball team maintained a percentage of .500 for the past week's contests. Central was swamped 48-28, while Eastern nosed out a 30-24 verdict.

The frosh had the upper hand from the starting whistle in the Central fray. Although the superiority of the embryonic Colonials could easily be discerned as the minutes passed, the Central lads made them work for every point they obtained. It was this "do or die" spirit of the high school team that transferred a game into an interesting battle. Two of the most determined men were Burke and Cumberland, Central's forwards, who were constantly harassing the freshmen by their fierce onslaughts. Together they scored half of their outfit's points. Henry Broadbent, an "all-high" man, played his usual steady game at guard. The most surprising feature of the contest was the emerging of Joe Robey of the freshmen from his figurative shell to ring up 5 baskets and 1 foul shot for a total of 11 points. Of course Joe did not neglect to perform his services as guard in an excellent manner, in achieving this scoring spree. Hickman and Fouts continued to show that they both possess an eagle eye for the hoop, the former obtaining 12 points and the latter accounting for 19.

Eastern Victor

Forced to fight to the very last minute of playing time, Eastern High School managed to eke out a victory over the G. W. frosh basketballers by a margin of six points, the final count being 30-24. The fray, a preliminary to the George Washington Varsity-St. Johns game Wednesday night, was fraught with the many thrills that a fast, well played basketball contest always imparts to the spectators. At the half the balance was in Eastern's favor and it was only great effort on the part of every man on the quintet that kept it there to the end of the game. Both teams possessed developed teamwork, and it was probably the ability of the courtmen from Eastern High to sink their foul tries that won the tussle for them. The little Colonials fought strenuously throughout, but could not quite overcome that six-point margin in the closing minutes. A comparison of box score totals brings out clearly the superiority of the Eastern team.

Eastern put the ball through the net 10 times to the nine fingers of the

Seniors and Frosh Win In Interclass Basketball

Victorious in First Round of Tournament Staged Friday

Seniors and freshmen were victorious in the first round of the interclass basketball tournament, on Friday evening, February 20, in the G. W. gym. The scores of the games were: Senior-Sophomore, 30-14; Freshman-Junior, 14-5.

The senior team played a fast game which could easily be compared to varsity matches of past years. Alethea Lawton, Jean McGregor, and Martha Benenson exhibited excellent pass work in the forward territory, as well as precision in their aim for goals. Wilhelm Gude starred in the center field and Evelyn Folsom guarded admirably.

Outstanding players on the sophomore line-up were: Helen Chafee, who made practically all of the score for the defeated team, and Dorothy Wilson, playing guard.

In the game between the freshmen and juniors, the junior team played with only five players. Katherine McCallum covered both the center field and half of the guard territory for the defeated team. Excellent playing was shown by the freshman center field, Nancy Booth and Louise Linkins. Other players, however, cooperated to make the game fast and smooth.

Line-up:

Seniors	Juniors
Lawton	Cook
McGregor	Hall
Benenson	vonLewinski
Folsom	McCallum
Palmer	James
Gude	Gude
Sophomores	Freshmen
Chafee	Booth
Hill	Linkins
Wilson	Joyes
Terrell	Bunker
Tabinski	Cobb
Haley	Buchanan

G. W. frosh. However, the yearlings received only six points from foul shots, while the high school youngsters obtained 10.

Hickman was the high-point man for the freshmen, with Leon Fouts and Billy Woodward trailing close behind for scoring honors. The fine feeling to that strategic point beneath the basket as executed by Paul Brown and Joe Robey deserves much commendation. Two substitutes, Forsythe and Cordova, show promise and will bear watching in future tilts.

To Meet Virginia Medics and Drexel Here; Season Closes March 6

Two of the last three basketball games of George Washington's season will be played this week-end in the H Street Gymnasium, when the Virginia Medical College and Drexel send their fives here on Friday and Saturday, respectively, for return games with the Colonials. Both of these quintets were met earlier in the season on their respective floors, and both were defeated rather decisively by Capt. Jack Conner and his gang. Unless the dope receives a severe jolt, the Colonials should repeat on their home floor.

The season will be officially closed on March 6, when Catholic University will be met in what will be the last athletic contest between the hitherto "traditional" rivals. Earlier in the year, C. U. registered a surprise verdict over the Buff and Blue in the Brookland Gym.

Although Virginia Medical and Drexel usually have good quints, they were unable to cope with G. W.'s sharpshooting band of players. The former was defeated at Ashland by a 44-27 margin, while Drexel was 24

The G. W. men's varsity rifle team is continuing its undefeated season with wins over Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore and Columbus University here in Washington. The Hopkins match, which was a telegraphic one was fired during the week ending February 7, and the Columbus match, which was fired shoulder to shoulder in the G. W. range, on February 14. G. W. defeated Johns Hopkins by the decisive score of 1,357 to 1,288, with Captain Barr of G. W. shooting the score of 287 to win individual honors.

The Colonial marksmen excelled in the Columbus match with a total of 1,343 to their opponents 1,262. Henry Bondinot was high man in this match with an individual score of 278. Individual scores of the match with Columbus University are as follows:

FINALS

Maintaining the fast pace they set in the opening matches, Phi Sigma Kappa again swept their opponents of their feet by taking three straight games from the Theta Delta Chi's last Saturday night at the Rendezvous Alley. The only other team to win three straight games was Sigma Nu, who won three games in the other league by downing Delta Tau Delta. Sigma Phi Epsilon, Theta Upsilon Omega, and Kappa Sigma each won victories by single game margins.

Theta Delta Chi proved no match for the League B leaders who, led by Jimmy Brown with a 320 set, easily turned in the decision. Phi Sig earned the victory with a margin of 34 pins in the first game, a healthy difference of 73 pins in the second game, and 42 pins in the third. As a result of this clever exhibition of bowling, Phi Sigma Kappa registered the high score of 1585 for the evening. Close behind, however, was Theta Upsilon Omega with a game set of 1532, a margin of only 53 pins behind.

Reeves Rolls High

Although Charlie Birdseye of Kappa Sigma turned in the high set score for the night with a pin total of 330, his previous high-game record of 334 was eclipsed by Clyde Reeves of Theta Upsilon Omega, who rolled 137 in his third game of the evening, the highest score yet registered in the 1931 series. Reeves' record came after two mediocre games of 98 and 94, leaving him behind in the set totals. Larry Phillips of Kappa Alpha, with a set of 323, gave Birdseye a close run for individual honors.

Incidentally, T. U. O. produced the season's high-game set when they rolled 560 in their third game of the evening. All but one of the T. U. O. team rolled over 100 and that one, Downes, just missed with a score of 99.

League Leaders Meet

A match of utmost importance will take place in League A this week, when Sigma Nu, the present leaders, stack up against Kappa Sig, tied for second place and only one game behind the pace-setters. Two victories for the latter would give them a tie with Sigma Nu, while a like number of triumphs for Sigma Nu would send them into a large lead. However, S. P. E., the other team tied for second, may slip into first place while their rivals are engaged with each other. S. P. E. will roll Delta Tau Delta, who have won but one game in six, and figure to give the Sig Epa little opposition.

Local Men In Majority
Among "Little Colonials"Central High Best Represented;
Tech and Eastern Next

To one unraveling the George Washington University freshman basketball squad player by player, it seems that local talent makes up the greater part of the team. It's just a case of the home boys who made good, and Mother Washington is mighty proud of her sons, but why shouldn't she be when out of a squad of ten all but three attended District high schools. The "Little Colonials" have more Washington men in their line-up than most other G. W. athletic teams and they are at present one of the best and most successful teams representing the Buff and Blue.

Central Claims Majority

Central High School claims most of the squad while Tech and Eastern respectively take second and third places. Paul Brown was the "big man" on Tech's basketball team and was chosen "All High" for two years. Woodward, the high point man of the freshman team, was a star at Central, while Robey, who hails from Eastern, proved himself indispensable to the Eastern five, the two latter boys also being chosen "All High." The remaining two of the usual starting five are Fouts from Omaha Central and Hickman from Annapolis. The rest of the regular squad consists of Farhood, Cordova, and Forsyth from Central High, Olverson from Tech and Ronald from Indiana.

From the start of the new athletic policy developed by Coach Pixlee, the boys from Missouri and points west seemed to monopolize the sporting pages, but this year's freshman team will be playing varsity next year, so in the line-up, among the best, we hope to see the names of our past high school toppers.

Playing with machine-like rhythm and sincere team work, the freshman basketballers have gained recognition from the best of basketball circles. Under the guiding hand of Coach Walsh, the team has had a most successful season, so far, losing only three closely fought games.

Dr. Alva Wilgus' Seminars

Speaker Heads Union Catalogue at Library of Congress

Ernest Ketch, of the Library of Congress, gave a talk last Tuesday evening at the joint meeting of Dr. Alva Wilgus' two seminars. Mr. Ketch is in charge of the Union Catalogue at the Library. He told about the attempt that is being made to list all of the books that have ever been published. Ten million books have already been listed.

Last semester Dr. Wilgus held six joint meetings of the Inter-American Relations Seminar and the Hispanic-American History Seminar, and he is continuing the meetings this term on Tuesdays at 7:30, for general research in Spanish-American history.

At the meeting of February 24, Dr. T. P. Martin, of the Manuscripts Division of the Library of Congress, showed how research can be conducted by means of films and photographs. He explained the methods of preserving manuscripts and how pseudo-manuscripts are detected.

Other persons who will speak at these meetings are: Dr. Gil Borges, a historian on South America, who is assistant Director General at the Pan-American Union; Dr. Herman H. B. Myer, Legislative reference librarian; and Dr. Childs, of the Catalogue Division at the Congressional Library.

Dean Doyle Publishes Book

In collaboration with Cecil Knight Jones, lecturer on Spanish-American literature at George Washington, and Angel Cabrillo Vasquez, of the faculty of Catholic University, Dean Henry Grattan Doyle of the Junior College has published a Spanish reader, "Trozos Escogidos," which has recently come from the press.

Thanks to Farrington

That able-bodied personage, the greatest of our assistant athletic directors, and assistant chairman of the Athletic Council, reports that he objects to being ridden by this column so often. Once in three weeks is his limit, he says. Consequently, it only for his sake, we change our policy. Let us commend Farrington for his choice of Orrel Mitchell as a referee in the last game.

As long as we are making commendations, we'll have to include one Forest Burgess, the lad who pulled the game out of the fire last Wednesday night. All in all, he rang up only 18 points for the evening. But at that, it was enough to put him back on the top as the ranking high-point scorer of the District. Incidentally, his nearest competitor is "Bozey" Berger, Maryland's star forward and one of the best players in the Southern Conference. While Burgess leads by only a few points it must be remembered that Berger has played in several more games to date than has the Colonial star.

As the games and season go on Wayne Chambers is proving himself more and more as one of the best centers in this part of the country. We also noticed that Fred Mulvey, who has been out because of a lame ankle, is back in uniform again.

The Football Racket

While it's a shame that the Thanksgiving battle with our ancient rivals out in Brookland has been discontinued, we don't hesitate to say that we stand pat with our athletic council in spite of what the local papers have to say on the matter. The hazardous manner in which athletics have been run in the past decade has finally come to a close. If we only knew it, all that we have to do now is to sit back and watch the natural proceedings.

Burgess "Next Best"

After seeing Maryland University's basketball team perform, we are rather inclined to agree with our fellow-correspondent, Jack Espey, of The Post, that "Bozey" Berger, of that team is perhaps the best all-around player in local colleges. But we hasten to mention that our own Forrest Burgess should be second on that list and pressing Berger closely for top honors. Berger possesses that husky physique so valuable to collegiate basketballers, while Burgess must travel along on his "five feet six." Give Burgess the build of a Berger and we unhesitatingly say that there would be little to choose between the pair.

Connor Unlucky

Capt. Jack Connor is having a lot of hard luck this winter. Taking plenty of shots at the basket, his aims have consistently "rimmed" the basket only to drop outside and deprive his point-total from rising. Anyway, it is a treat to see him directing the team in an experienced manner and we look forward to seeing George Washington with one of the best teams in the country two years hence.

Connor, Burgess, Chambers, Fenlon, and Zahn are all sophomores now, and with Robey, Fouts, Hickman, and Woodward coming up from the freshman quintet, the school will be well fortified for next season's play. Their one handicap this season has been a lack of reserves, but with these yearlings due for varsity competition next year, this defect should be remedied. Whereupon, we may see G. W. compete on the court with some of the East's leading fives as it will undoubtedly be doing on the gridiron.

Diseases Made Subjects of Discussions Before Society

The George Washington Medical Society held a meeting Saturday night, February 21, at the Medical School.

Richard V. Mattingly, president of the senior class, announced the speakers and thanked the society for the honor it had bestowed upon the class by allowing them to conduct one meeting during the year.

The following program was presented by the senior class of the Medical School: Lipoid Nephrosis in a child, age 6, by W. W. Martin; A. E. LeHew, and G. A. Maggio; report of a case of Sickle Cell Anemia by G. A. Wyman, H. F. Dowling, and J. F. Casey; report of a case of Agranulocytosis by H. Eisenberg, A. F. Heath, and C. T. Carroll.

The papers were discussed by Drs. O. B. Hunter, Wm. J. Mallory, Leslie Gager, and F. A. Hornaday. Dr. Davis, president of the Medical Society, praised Mr. Burbridge very highly for the fine way that his committee had prepared the program and congratulated the men who read the papers. Each of the doctors who discussed a paper also congratulated the men on their presentation of the subjects. Dr. Hornaday went so far as to say he would prophesy well for the future of each of these men.

The papers were prepared in such a manner that ten most important topics of the diseases discussed would be taken up, and that the most important factors of each of the topics would be brought out clearly and in short time. Each paper was presented clearly and distinctly and without the least hesitancy.

CLUB SELECTING SPRING PLAYERS

Final Tryouts Held March 3;
"The Cassilis Engagement"
To Be Production

More than 150 people were present at the preliminary tryouts for the cast of the spring production of the Drama Club, which were held on Thursday, February 19, in Corcoran Hall. At that time it was announced that the play to be given was "The Cassilis Engagement."

The play is by St. John Hankin and has never been produced in Washington. It is an English play and is termed by the author a comedy for mothers. It is full of brilliant repartee, and abounds with subtle cracks.

Due to the many applications for parts in the production, it was decided to withhold the final decision until Tuesday, March 3, when further eliminations will be made in Corcoran Hall, Room 33. It has been decided, however, that no one who was not present at the first tryouts will be permitted to attend the final test. All those picked by the club for further consideration have been notified by mail.

There are still many positions on the production staff yet to be filled. The club has taken no action in regard to the stage crew and there are as yet a few positions open on the business staff. Any one seeking a place on any staff should communicate with Louise Wright at the Kappa Delta house.

Sorority Women Model In Spring Fashion Show

Jellett's Little Theatre Scene of
Colorful Exhibit

One member from each sorority on the campus modeled gowns in Jellett's Little Theatre, Saturday afternoon, before a large audience of G. W. students.

A fashion talk was given during the show, describing the highlights of the Spring mode. Pajamas are to be worn more than ever, even for formal dinner and evening, as well as in the morning and afternoon. The popular colors will be grey, blue, unusual greens, and pastels for sports. Black will be stressed for evening wear. Pleats will vie with flared skirts for supremacy.

Althea, Lawton wore especially attractive pajamas with enormously wide trousers. The blouse was of three shades of blue, in diagonal bands, and the sleeves were similarly banded. Dorothy Worrall modeled a black one-piece dress trimmed in light plaid and narrow red belt.

Margaret Maxwell showed a rose Spring coat, collared with luxurious blue fur, slightly flared at the bottom. Flora Alpert wore a green dress in the redingote style of plain and figured material, which was described as being especially smart and practical for school wear. A smart example of white and red combined was shown by Betty Reynolds. She had on a white dress with cape sleeves, scarlet hat and purse.

Sport Suits Modeled

Dolly Tschiffely modeled a blue wool crepe sport dress, the skirt slightly flaring. With this she wore a tight black straw bicorne hat. A peach colored knitted sport suit with short sleeves, as worn by Marion Zeigler, showed the effectiveness of pastels.

Barbara Sinclair wore an unusual Russian peasant dress in two shades of green. Lois Vassar wore a navy blue ribbed silk dress dotted in white. The sleeves were banded with brown fur.

Evening Wear

An example of the effectiveness of the ruffled net dress was shown by Melanie Ulig. The gown she modeled was in pink with a blue velvet sash. Shirley Graff modeled a black taffeta evening gown with two overlapping peplums lined with pink. Marion Lum wore a sophisticated model of black crepe, with square neckline, and rhinestone belt and straps. Frances Jones wore a yellow chiffon dress, the skirt covered with tiny chiffon net ruffles.

DOYLE ADDRESSES TEACHERS' ASSOC.

Speech at Boston Points Out
Handicaps in Teaching of Spanish

"Educationally considered, the knowledge of languages and the ability to use them are at the bottom democratic, not aristocratic, attributes," said Dean Henry Gratton Doyle in an address given at the fourteenth annual meeting of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish, held in Boston, Mass., December 26.

Aside from the natural barrier between people of different languages and the geographical isolation of the United States from foreign cultures, there are, according to Dean Doyle, certain inexcusable handicaps to the teaching of Spanish.

The first of these, he says, is a feeling of superiority to other races that too often betrays itself in speech and action, and is most marked in the British and Americans, although the latter are more aggressive and loud in this "small town" racial superiority, called by the dean "Little Americanism."

"Closely allied to this is a general prejudice against the Latin nations in general, and the Spanish-speaking peoples in particular. Common misconceptions—that they are cruel, brutal, and bloodthirsty, and immoral—go back to the wretched propaganda first spread about Spain when she was the political and military opponent, in turn, of most of the other great nations of Europe, and repeated ceaselessly ever since by the uninformed and prejudiced."

The final handicap stressed is the association of a knowledge of foreign languages with the "superficial" social graces. On the contrary, Dean Doyle asserts that languages open the door to communion with one's fellow men; they are assets in the broad, not the narrow "high-society" sense.

"Particularly is this true of Spanish, the language of more than one-half of this hemisphere, and the gateway to a knowledge of the life and culture of millions of everyday, decent, well-meaning people like ourselves."

El Club Espanol to Give Social Function in March

The feature of the business meeting of El Club Espanol, held on Thursday, February 19, was changing the schedule of meetings. In the future the club will gather on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month at 8 o'clock, in K-22. The club plans a social affair for the first part of March. A committee, consisting of John Shorey and Sylvia Werksman was appointed by the president, Raymond Mealy, to decide the nature of the function and make arrangements for it.

The next meeting will be held tomorrow in K-22, at 8 p. m. A prominent speaker is being secured to address the club, and there will probably be an illustrated lecture. All students of Spanish who are interested are urged to attend and become affiliated with the club.

D. A. R. Invites Churchill To Judge in New Contest

Professor George Morton Churchill has been requested by the Daughters of the American Revolution to act as a judge of a contest they are sponsoring called "Bibliographies of the American Revolution."

A number of chapters of this organization have compiled bibliographies on the subject, which are to be passed on by a board of judges on which Professor Churchill has been asked to serve.

The decision is to be rendered by this board, and the ensuing reward will be made at the annual congress of the D. A. R. this spring.

From 1920 to 1926, Professor Churchill was associated with the D. A. R. Magazine through his supervision of a department called "The Historical Program."

G. W. Masonic Club Plans Smoker For Masons Here

The George Washington University Masonic Club will hold a smoker for the Masons in the University Monday evening, March 2, at 8 p. m. in the men's lounge of Stockton Hall. Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of the University, has promised to attend, and a number of men prominent in Masonic circles in the District have been invited.

All Masons in the University are eligible for membership in the club and are urged to attend this smoker. The club has been active recently in sponsoring the sale of cherry blossoms for the benefit of the School of Government, and the officers are planning other activities which will be of interest to the members.

Marvin Speaks To Masons

Dr. Cloyd H. Marvin was the guest speaker at The Washington Centennial Lodge of Masons on last Wednesday evening. Dr. Marvin was received most cordially by the group, and his talk met with hearty approval.

The Modern Poetry Club will meet Wednesday, February 25, at 1 p. m., in C. H. 17.

A meeting of El Club Espanol will be held in K-22, at 8 o'clock, Thursday, February 26.

The banquet of the Baptist Student Union will take place Friday, February 27, at 6:30, at the National Baptist Memorial Church.

The Glee Club will hold a competitive concert with Catholic University at the Shoreham Hotel, February 27, at 8:30. The concert will be followed by dancing in the main ballroom.

The Masonic Club will give a smoker Monday, March 2, at 8 o'clock, in the men's lounge room of Stockton Hall.

Final tryouts for parts in the Drama Club spring play will be given Tuesday night, March 3, in Corcoran Hall 33. Only those to whom cards were sent will be present.

A study course in Baptist Student Union methods will be given in Corcoran Hall 17, on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays. All students who are interested are invited to attend.

Botany Students Finishes Research Work On Rust

Experiment Makes Important
Contribution To Science

C. Frederick Andrus, who on Monday, February 23, received his A. B. degree from Columbian College with distinction and with high honors in Botany, has made an important contribution to science through his work on a rust organism which has puzzled botanists for fifty years.

Mr. Andrus entered the University in 1926 as a day student. Shortly afterward he secured a position with the Department of Agriculture in the Plant Industry Bureau and pursued his studies at night. After a time as laboratory assistant, Mr. Andrus was assigned the problem of investigating the rust organism which attacks cow peas and beans. Previous unsuccessful efforts of scientists to find out anything definite about the life history of these pests served only to whet the young man's zeal.

Since September, 1929, he has devoted his attention to this important problem and finally succeeded in working out the sex cycle of the rust. After completing his work in the fall of 1930, Mr. Andrus wrote a paper on the subject which is scheduled to appear shortly in the Journal of Agricultural Research. The paper, upon presentation last November before the Botanical Society of America at Cleveland, was favorably received and shortly afterward Dr. H. H. Whetzel, head of the Plant Pathology Department at Cornell University, wrote to inquire about it. Dr. Whetzel invited Mr. Andrus to come to Ithaca and gave his paper before the Cornell seniors.

This work is a contribution for which any botanist in the land would be proud to have the credit.

Degrees Conferred Upon 57 Candidates At Convention

PI DELTA EPSILON TO HOLD CONTEST

Journalistic Fraternity Offers
Prizes For News Stories
and Editorials

Contests for editorials and news stories published in college newspapers during the academic year of 1930-1931 will be held by Pi Delta Epsilon, journalistic fraternity, it was voted at a special meeting of the Grand Council held in the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C., January 3.

Dean Henry Gratton Doyle of The George Washington University is the director of the competition. Editorials and news stories by G. W. students to be considered in this contest must be published in The University Hatchet and submitted to Dean Doyle before July 1, 1931. Announcement of the winners will be made next fall.

Prizes in both the editorial and news writing contests are $35 for first place, $25 for second place, and $10 for third place.

Rules under which the contests will be managed are as follows:

1. Editorial or news stories must have been written by an undergraduate and must have been published during the academic year in a college journal (daily, tri-weekly, semi-weekly, weekly, bi-weekly, etc.).

2. Editorials or news stories must be submitted in duplicate, as follows: (a) one copy in the form of a clipping, so trimmed as to eliminate any indication of the source, and pasted on regular size copy paper, or plain white paper; (b) one copy, marked, of the complete issue of the publication in which the contribution appeared.

3. A statement, signed by the Editor-in-Chief, editorial chairman, faculty advisor, or other responsible officer of the publication, must accompany the two copies of the contribution. This statement must give the name and address of the author and certify that he is a regularly enrolled undergraduate student in the institution.

4. While it is recommended that editorial boards or editors-in-chief submit a selection, properly attested, of the three best editorials and three best news stories published in their respective journals during the year, the judges will consider on the same basis all properly attested contributions, whether submitted under this plan or by individuals, provided the conditions stated above are complied with.

Further information about the contest may be obtained from Dean Doyle.

Dance Class to Perform Before Columbian Women

A dance program for the Columbian Women will be given by the members of the dancing classes Tuesday, March 3, at 4 o'clock. Ruth Aubeck, instructor, will give a short talk explaining the presentation.

Included in the program is a demonstration of class work in fundamentals and the following group dances: 1. "Contra Dance"—Beethoven. 2. Group dance based on combative movements. 3. A rhythmic study to percussion instruments. 4. "Andante"—Chopin. 5. An interpretation of "The Volga Boatman." 6. A dramatic pantomime based on "Old King Cole."
